

II Workshop “ Internationalization and Negotiation of Knowledge: Challenges and Perspectives”. SISA 2019, UNAH

In the framework of the III International Seminar on Agricultural Health (SISA 2019) and of the XX Latin American Congress of Phytopathology, held in Varadero (Cuba), May 6 to 10, 2019, the conference “Good practices generated from the FORINT Project” was presented for the improvement of the internationalization process in Latin American Universities.

In this conference, the FORINT Project, the main lessons learned and the results obtained by all the universities participating were presented by the Director of International Relations of UNAH to all the participants.

You can check the presentation made in the "Resources" section of this website