INTERNATIONAL DAY: MONDAY DECEMBER 11, 2018

UNIVERSIDAD DE CAMAGÜEY "IGNACIO AGRAMONTE LOYNAZ"

The International Relations Department of the Universidad de Camagüey called the university community on Tuesday, December 11, 2018 to participate in the International Day.

One of the priorities of the University is to improve internationalization by increasing the visibility of its main processes and strengthening international relations. The essential objective of the International Day was to publicize the results obtained in 2018 in the field of internationalization, as well as to motivate the university community to get involved in the challenges and perspectives of internationalization by 2019.

From 9:00 a.m., outreach the following activities and informal meetings were carried out: exchange activities on international agreements, scholarships for academic mobility, international associations and accreditations, international student mobility, summer courses, international week, visits of international specialists, international projects, calls for international events, programs of ALBA, ANTEX and CUBATÉCNICA, among others.

An exhibition about their nationalities or foreign students of the university were presented. There was also an exchange of experiences with students who had experiences of student mobility in international scenarios.

Dr. C. Paula Lourdes Guerrero, from CUCEA- University of Guadalajara, Mexico, who was developing an academic exchange with specialists and researchers from the Faculty of Economics, was the international guest and offered a presentation on her institution and exchange possibilities.

The day was also used to make the recognition ceremony for those teachers, students, careers, faculties and areas that have made the most contributions to the development of internationalization processes in the University. The university artistic talent, dedicated the cultural moments of this day to Mexico.
