

Job Shadowing: Portugal and Spain.

Date: 12 – 16 November, 2018.

During the week of November 12 to 16, participants from Cuban and Panamanian universities took the opportunity to live "in situ" the process of internationalization in European universities. During their stay, they discovered the processes of internationalization, the impact and the way in which it is managed and supervised.

In this way, the representatives of the Universidad de Holguín, the Universidad de Oriente, the Universidad de la Habana and the Universidad de Camagüey were working at ESADE Business School. In his stay, internationalization was studied through the creation / realization of a simulation of a summer course or a study trip.

The representatives of Universidad Central de las Villas as well as the Universidad Agraria de la Habana moved to the Universidad Nova de Lisboa. Experiences of good practices of internationalization were shared between all the parts.

Finally, the representatives of the Universidad de Panama and the Universidad Especializada de las Américas (UDELAS) had the opportunity to work with the University of Alicante how managed quality in the process of internationalization.

With these passions, contacts between the host institutions and the institutions of origin of the participants can also be strengthened.
